

SAIC Named a Company to Watch in Frost & Sullivan Joint All Domain Command and Control Report

December 1, 2022

Company recognized for its advanced capabilities that support Department of Defense JADC2 strategy

RESTON, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Science Applications International Corp. (NYSE: SAIC) has been recognized by Frost & Sullivan as a company to watch, supporting Department of Defense (DoD) Joint All-Domain Command and Control (JADC2).

"For JADC2 to succeed, the Department of Defense needs experts in advanced capabilities in network virtualization, optimized delivery, software integration, cloud operations and cyber defense. That, and an unparalleled understanding of the challenge, is exactly what we bring to the table," said Michael LaRouche, president, National Security and Space sector at SAIC. "This recognition demonstrates SAIC's role as a transformation agent in JADC2 as we continue to contribute to the success of our nation's warfighters."

SAIC has become a leading partner for JADC2. SAIC's expertise in IT modernization, space, digital engineering and Cloud One enables the company to support core areas of JADC2 and to partner with the government to transform legacy command and control systems into a modern hybrid cloud environment to accelerate decision making and increase mission success.

"SAIC is one of only three companies Frost & Sullivan named as a JADC2 Company To Watch," said Brad Curran, aerospace and defense principal analyst at Frost & Sullivan. "SAIC received recognition as best in class around Artificial Intelligence and digital engineering innovations, its deep DoD mission understanding and its commercial technology integration capabilities, all of which are required for leading a multi-domain program like JADC2."

In 2022, SAIC has received more than $500 million in JADC2-related contract awards, including being named in the Advanced Battle Management System \(ABMS\) Digital Infrastructure Consortium and as lead contractor for the Falconer Air Operations Center \(AOC\) Weapon System Sustainment work.
